

TEMPORARY STRUCTURE, IMMEDIATE IMPACT Honors Thesis Deployable Performing Arts Center Spring 2004

This project continues to develop the designer's previous research in the area of pneumatics and tensile fabric. The structure is designed as a deployable performing arts center for The Village of Arts and Humanities, a community arts organization in Philadelphia. This organization greatly needs a performing arts center for its summer programs but, like many similar institutions, is financially constrained and seeks the most immediate results possible. This project seeks to address those needs while exploring new structural concepts.

1. Section
2. Model, View From Above
3. Form Finding Model
4. Model, Interior View

